

Ground rules of peace journalism

Ground rules of peace journalism
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• None of the parties has absolute standards of truth.</li><li>• Conflicts are always open to being conceptualized either as a competitive (WIN-LOSE) or as a cooperative (WIN-WIN) process.</li><li>• Conflicts can take a constructive course only if they are conceptualized in the framework of a WIN-WIN model.</li><li>• War culture is biased towards WIN-LOSE interpretations.</li><li>• Peace processes must be based on creativity: they must give a voice to the voiceless.</li><li>• Peace journalism must provide an alternative motivational logic and rechannel outrage at the enemy into outrage at war itself.</li><li>• Peace journalism must adopt an unconditional commitment to encompassing standards of truth.</li></ul>
